

Hi, I'm Jeff Sauer. Thank you for reading.

We are all on a journey, full of experiences. We are making choices that help create our story. Some experiences become cherished memories, some quickly fade, and others are painful and often leave questions.

Having friends to journey with can be so helpful. Having someone that will listen, someone to laugh and cry with, who will share from their experiences - someone to celebrate with. Developing healthy friendships is rewarding, but rarely easy.

The greatest influence in our journey is developing our faith – what we believe about our identity, our purpose and fulfilling that purpose. Intentional focus on these areas, with others who are positive and truthful, is very valuable.

The Bible provides unique and detailed information to develop what we believe about these important questions. Hearing the claims of Jesus Christ, and deciding what you believe about his words, is the most important choice you will make.

If you will give me five more minutes, I have created two very short videos I hope you will watch. One is titled "About the Bible" and the other is "The Good News". I hope you use the Contact tab on this website so we can visit.

I would love to hear from you, and hear some about your life and faith journey. Maybe we can journey together? Maybe our conversation will lead to some new friendships? Maybe your journey includes being part of the First Baptist Church faith family in Lisbon?

God, thank you for the person listening right now, please help them to know your loving presence, bless them in their faith journey and in finding healthy friendships, in Jesus name. Amen.
